

BOTH ARE NOW NULL

Fred H. Leonard's Marriage and Adoption of a Child Void.

END OF A FAMOUS CASE

Mrs. Rice Will Receive $65 a Month During Her Life—Attorneys for Fred Will Be Paid.

Judge Adelt yesterday issued two decrees declaring the marriage between Fred H. Leonard and Mary E. Rice null and void and also annulling the adoption of Shirlan M. Knight by the couple. The circumstances of the marriage, which took place in Windsor, Ontario, April 2, 1922, and the adoption of the infant in Detroit, October 20, 1922, are too well known to require repetition. Both decrees are based on Fred H. Leonard's insanity at the time the marriage and adoption were accomplished. No provision for the maintenance of the adopted child is made in the decrees, but by its provisions Mrs. Mary E. Rice-Lionard is well cared for. The decrees grant her application for permanent alimony, the action being taken with the consent of complainant's solicitors. She is to receive $65 a month during her lifetime, payable at the office of the Michigan Trust Company. Mrs. Rice is also given the use of all the furniture and household goods in her residence on Shawmut avenue, and any balance due the Windsor Furniture Company is to be paid out of Fred H. Leonard's estate. The sum of $1,500 is also decreed Fred H. Leonard's lawyers, to be paid within ten days, in lieu of all other costs and charges in the case. The decrees also create a lien on Fred H. Leonard's real estate in the city, lots 1 and 2 on Spring street, as security for the monthly payment of the $65 to this price, and an insurance of not less than $12,000 is decreed to be placed on H. Leonard, Sons & Co.'s wholesale establishment now situated on those lots. This entry probably ends the litigation in the Leonard case, with the exception of N. P. Allen, whose claim is understood not to be allowed.

Alvin B. Moseley's Estate.
Charlotte B. Moseley, widow of the late Alvin B. Moseley, yesterday petitioned the probate court to be appointed administrator of her husband's estate. Hearing was set for January 22. The estate is estimated at $10,000. The deceased died intestate. Besides the widow, the heirs are Edward E. Timothy H. and Emma M. Moseley.

Ezzo Wants a New Trial.
A motion was made in the superior court yesterday for a new trial in the case of Donald Ezzo, charged with rape by his step-daughter. Ezzo was sentenced to twenty years in Jackson in the superior court several months ago. The motion was argued and submitted.

Minor Court Notes.
Sentence was suspended yesterday in police court against Isaac Helms and John Boorkema, charged with stealing wood in Greenwood cemetery. It is not probable that any proceeding under the state law will be begun.

Addie E. Elliott, grand-daughter of the late Robert L. Shoemaker, has petitioned the probate court to be appointed administrator of her grandfather's estate in place of Joseph K. Elliott, who declines the trust.

Ed Troy, who was granted a new trial by the supreme court, will be tried next Thursday. Troy was convicted some time ago for deadly assault on Officer Tatroe on August 9, 1922.

Joseph Houseman, guardian of Helen May, insane, certified to the probate court yesterday that $5,254.14 of the latter's estate had passed through his hands during the year.

Spencer Rich of Oakfield was yesterday ordered sent to Kalamazoo at the expense of Kent county as an indigent insane person.

Circuit Court.
James Groves—John W. F. Holcombe admitted to citizenship.

Judge Asper.—Fred H. Leonard, by Lewis H. Whitney, guardian, etc., vs. Mary E. Rice; annulment of marriage; proof taken in open court; decrees granted. Fred H. Leonard, by his guardian, vs. Henry H. Knight and Sheridan M. Knight; custody; decrees granted.

Superior Court.
Judge Berlingham—The People vs. Donald Ezzo; rape; motion for a new trial argued and submitted.

Probate Court.
JUDGE PERKINS—Estate John W. Barlow, deceased; order admitting will to probate. Estate Thomas Bullen, deceased; executor's first account filed. Estate Alvin B. Moseley, deceased; January 22 assigned for appointing administrator. In the matter of Stephen Rich, pauper, insane, order for admission to asylum. Estate Helen May, insane; guardian's annual account filed. Estate Robert L. Shoemaker, deceased; refusal of executor to accept trust filed; January 20 assigned for appointing administrator with will annexed. Estate John McCarthy, deceased; order closing estate against claims. Estate Margaret Walsh, deceased; order granting license to mortgage real estate.

Police Court.
Judge HANCOCK—Isaac Helms and John Boorkema, violation of cemetery ordinances; sentence suspended. Anna Perry, larceny; adjourned December 30. Leonard Green, larceny; adjourned December 30.

Barrier Permits.

Uncle Josh Defeated.
Lawyer—Well, my young friend, your Uncle Josh determined that you should be a farmer or get nothing from him. He did not leave you a cent of money, but he willed you his plow, cultivator, mowing machine, thrasher, portable sawmill, stone crusher, road scraper and stump puller.
Young Scribbler—All right, I'll sell them.
Lawyer—He has provided against that. You cannot sell or even rent them. You must use them yourself.
Young Scribbler—Very well. I will.
Lawyer—On the old farm?
Young Scribbler—No, I'll write a play and use them on the stage.—New York Weekly.

Nothing to Brag About.
"Papa, did you ever see a king?"
"Yes, my son."
"Oh, did you, honestly? A real king?"
"Yes."
"My, how did you feel when you saw him? What did you do?"
"I didn't do anything, my son—the other man had more."—Boston Globe.

HE WOULDN'T GET UP.

Mr. Comfort Gives the Barkeeper Enough Rope, and He Hangs Himself.
"Silas" whispered Mrs. Comfort to me the other night as she dug her elbow into my ribs. "Are you awake?"
"I wasn't a minute ago, but as you have succeeded in arousing me what is it you wish to observe?"
"Just listen to that noise!"
"I hear it."
"But what is it?"
"Without having investigated the subject, I should say the noise was caused by a rat knowing at the woodwork under the lavatory. Should I get out of bed and go prying about, I might find that it was Smith's goat mouthing around the garbage can in the back yard. In either case we have nothing to do with it. If a rat, he will gnaw his way through to find that he is worse off than before. If it is the goat, he will probably get choked to death on fishbones."
"Are you going to get up, Mr. Comfort?"
"Certainly not."
"Then I will!"
And she got up only to find, but raised the window and saw a man in the back yard and came back to bed to whisper to me. "Silas, do you want to be murdered in your bed?"
"Why, it might as well be in bed as on the stairs, down cellar or on the front steps."
"But aren't you going to scare the man away?"
"No, dear. In the first place, he may not be one of the scary kind, and in the next his object in coming into the yard was probably to steal that old harness hanging on the fence. Let him have it. It may not only encourage him to steal a horse and buggy to go with it, but will save me from dragging the old rubbish out into the alley. Come to bed, Mrs. Comfort. If the man discovers that he is being watched, he may walk off with the snow shovel instead of the harness."
Mrs. Comfort growled and kicked and called me coldblooded, and declared that I wanted to get her murdered, and for five long hours she did not shut her eyes in sleep. The man not only took the old harness, but at once felt that he must steal a horse to match it. In stealing the horse he was caught, and got five years in prison, and thus another bad man was removed from society.
"Didn't I tell you?" says I to Mrs. Comfort when I heard the news, but she looked at me with a freezing expression and wouldn't say a word.—Detroit Free Press.

What He Had.
The New York youth was doing the west, and the first night he pulled up in a rough town and stopped at a rougher tavern, with a retired cowboy for a waiter. At the supper table the easterner was quite elaborate.
"Bring me," he said to the waiter, "a rare steak with mushrooms."
"Ain't got it," replied the waiter promptly.
"Well, bring me a muttonchop done to a turn."
"Ain't got it," came back the first answer.
The easterner showed his annoyance.
"Bring me a broiled chicken on toast," he said, severely.
"Ain't got it," came the same old answer.
"Indeed!" very ironically. "Suppose you bring me a bit of boiled ham."
"Ain't got it," said the cowboy.
"You haven't?" and this time the New Yorker was reckless. "Well, what in thunder have you got?"
"Got a notion to punch you one in the jaw for being a dude," replied the waiter in the same tone as before. "Have a slug of salt pork and a skinned pertener." And the easterner took that.—Exchange.

His Bad Luck.
It was a sharp, sunshiny October morning as I rode along the back of Pine mountain where it overlooks Virginia and Kentucky, and I was thinking about the loveliness of nature and cognate subjects when I came upon a mountaineer with a gun in his lap, sitting on a log where two or three mountain paths converged.
"Good morning," I said breezily, for I felt good.
"Morning," he responded.
"Beautiful morning," said I.
"Ain't noticed," said he.
"Been hunting, I see," said I, nodding toward the gun.
"Yes—none," said he.
"You haven't had very good luck, I should judge?"
"I haven't had none," said he earnestly.
"What's the matter?"
"Derned if I know," he said, getting up and taking a look around. "I've been waitin' here on this log since sun up for that leather faced Jim Mullins, an I haven't got a crack at him yet." And he tried the hammer of his gun, gazed off down the path from which James might come, and with a nasty good morning I trotted along down another road.—Detroit Free Press.

Setting an Old Fireman.
"I have none, sir," exclaimed the wild-eyed caller, thrusting his head back defiantly. "I have it out with you!"
The doctor grasped his forearm, there was a short struggle, and he stood over his victim in triumph.
"That's all right, sir," he replied, looking at the weapon to see if he had brought away anything besides the aching member.

UNDISPUTED FACT

THAT DR. S. CLAY TODD CURES AFTER ALL OTHER PHYSICIANS FAIL

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refining and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale at all drug stores in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.
